Children Cry For

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children ? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

BEST TREATMENT FOR CROP BOUND

Thin Muscular Walls of Organ Become Distended and Partially Paralyzed.

LARD OR SWEET OIL USEFL

Operation May Become Necessary to Remove Contents of Crop-Feed Sparingly on Whole Grains

Until Wound Heals (Prepared by the United States Depart ment of Agriculture.)

The crop of the chicken sometimes becomes overloaded with feed and its thin muscular valls become distended and partially paralyzed, so that the organ cannot be emptied, or the opening into the lower esophagus may be come clogged with a feather, a straw, or some other substance which the bird has swallowed. The crop is greatly distended and the mass of feed is rather hard and firm. In both cases the symptoms are the same, and treatment should be conducted on the same principles, specialists say.

Treatment Outlined. For treatment pour one-fourth to one-half ource of melted lard or sweet oil down the throat and manipulate the contents of the crop with the hand in such a way as to tend to break up the mass. Unless the passage is closed the contents of the crop will usually pass away within a few hours. For a few days feed should be limited in

If the foregoing method is ineffectual and an operation becomes necessary, clip away the feathers from a part of the crop, and with a very sharp knife, lancet or razor make an ncision about 1½ inches long through the skin and the wall of the crop. Then carefully remove the contents of the crop with the finger, the handle of a spoon or some other convenient object and wash out the crop with warm water. Pass the finger, well oiled, into the esophagus to see that there is no obstruction.

Feed Whole Grains. Sew up the wall of the crop first then the outer skin, using white silk or linen thread and being careful not to sew the two membranes together. In a few days the wound will be healed. Feed sparingly on whole grains until the wound heals, and do not give any water for 24 hours.

TOUGHNESS OF FRUIT SKINS

Mechanical Device Proves That It is Preferable to Pick Most Fruit Early in Morning

Mechanical apparatus has been de vised by investigators of the United States department of agriculture which proves scientifically that, other things being equal, it is preferable to pick such small fruit as strawberries. cherries and raspberries in the early morning while it is still cool, particularly if the fruit is to be kept some time or shipped a considerable distance. The advantage of early picking lies in the fact that when cool the epidermis, or skin, of the fruit is conslderably tougher, generally speaking, than when warm, and so is less easily brulsed, as shown by tests. Similarly the skin of fruit immediately after it has been cooled is more resistant than It is at an ordinary room temperature. However, after fruit has been in an icebox more than twenty-four hours the resistance of its skin is in some cases no: so great as that of freshly picked fruit, which has been cooled quickly to icebox temperature. It seems possible, therefore, that the storing of fruit tends, after a time, to make the epidermis more tender and more easily ruptured.

The apparatus, while having many distinctive features, is a modified Jolly balance. It consists of an upright metal standard from the top of which an arm projects to one side supporting a sensitive coil spring. Attached to the lower end of the latter is a metal rod that passes through a glass tube, the latter being held in place by an arm attached to the up-

In operating the apparatus the fruit is placed on the stand of the instrument in a holder, and the stand so adjusted that the surface of the fruit just comes in contact with the tip of the glass needle, when the hair lines on the metal rod and glass tube coin-

The tension on the spring is released by means of a rack and pinion adjustment permitting the standard to telescope slowly, thereby lessening the tension of the spring. The operator is able to tell the instant at which lessened tension permits the needle to buncture the fruit, because movement of the needle is indicated by movement of one of the hair lines. When this takes place he at once stops the telescoping of the standard. Then, byreading the scale on the side of the instrument, the weight required to balance the tension on the spring is determined. The weight of the glass rod, minus the weight necessary to

GOOD APPLE-PICKING RULES Among Other Things Pick By Hand and Cool Before Packing—Crop This Year Is Small.

Good rules to remember when pick ing apples are: Pick by band; cool before packing; grade carefully; but only one variety, grade, and size in a package; pack tight; mark on outside the variety, grade, size, and the grower's or packer's name. The apple crop this year is small but it will pay just as well or better to pick and puck properly as when there is a big yield. The best grades always pull the highest prices.

Mrs. Annie K. Watts, Supreme Chaplain and State Guardian of Ladies' Woodmen Circle Visits Bay St. Louis.

TENDERED RECEPTION AT RES-IDENCE OF MRS. BOURGEOIS.

Found Local Circle In Flourishing Condition and Well Conducted -List of Officials-Men Can Join Circle.

Mrs. Annie K. Watts. State Guardian and Supreme Chaplain of the Sovereign Camp, Ladies Circle of the Woodmen of the World, was an official visitor to Bay St. Louis during the week, and expressed her satisfaction at how the local circle has prospered and the excellent manner in which it is conducted. Mrs. Watts was entertained Monday night at a reception given at the residence of Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois in Main street. There was a large attendance and the affair proved a most pleasant and interesting one. to say the least.

Mrs. Watts lives at Meridian and travels over the State in the interest of the organization and says at no place are the circles in a more nourishing condition and with better prospects than in Bay St. Louis. The Bay St. Louis Ladies' Woodmen Circle is officered by the following-named ladies: Mrs. Bourgeois past guardian; Mrs. Edith K. Davis, guardian; Mrs. Lucy Whit-field, adviser; Mr. Toulme chaplain; Mrs. Marie Monti, attendant; Mrs. Julia Arbo, clerk; Mrs. Ida Tudury and Mrs. R. Betz, inner and outer guards respectively; Mrs. L. Eagan, Misses Mae Colson and Lit-

lian Tudury, managers. Membership in the Circle is not only confined to the ladies, but gentlemen can join as well and get the benefit of life insurance as well without belonging to the regular order of the Woodmen of the World.
